

Daniel Eduardo Díaz Espinosa

ddiaze@brandeis.edu

Education

Ph.D. in International Economics and Finance, Brandeis University, Massachusetts, USA
(Expected 2027)

Advisor: Raphael Schoenle

M.A. in International Economics and Finance, Brandeis University, Massachusetts, USA, 2022–2024

M.A. in Economics, The Ohio State University, Ohio, USA, 2018–2019

M.S. in Economics, El Colegio de México, Mexico City, Mexico, 2016

Thesis: Optimal Simple Monetary Policy Rules and Equilibrium Determinacy under Informality

Advisor: Stephen McKnight

B.A. in Economics (Summa cum laude), UNAM, Mexico City, Mexico, 2012

Thesis: Monetary Policy Rules: Analytical Frameworks and the Mexican Case, 2001–2011

Advisor: Hugo Contreras

Awards

- Josué Sáenz Award for Best Master's Thesis, El Colegio de México, 2016
- Honoric Mention for Excellence, UNAM, 2012

Research Experience

- Research Assistant to Prof. Raphael Schoenle, Brandeis University, 2024–2025
- Research Assistant to Prof. Lúcio Vinhas de Souza, Brandeis University, 2024
- Research Assistant to Prof. Aldo Musacchio, Brandeis University, 2022–2023
- Deputy Director of Research, Ministry of Finance of Mexico, 2021–2022
- Research Fellow, Center for Economic Studies, El Colegio de México, 2016–2018

Teaching Experience

- Lecturer, Principles of Macroeconomics (Undergraduate), Brandeis University (Summer 2025) and FSU (Fall 2025).
- Lecturer, Intermediate Macroeconomics (Undergraduate), Brandeis University, Summer 2024, Summer 2023
- TA, Financial Crisis (Graduate), Brandeis University, Spring 2024
- TA, ECON 82b (Undergraduate), Brandeis University, Fall 2022
- TA, multiple macro/micro courses, El Colegio de México, 2016–2017
- Lecturer, Monetary Theory and Financial Policy, UNAM, 2014
- TA, multiple macro courses, UNAM, 2013–2014

Skills

- Programming: LaTeX, MATLAB, Stata, R, Python